MILWAUKEE
FILM

BLACK LENS

CULTURES & COMMUNITIES

Guided by principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion, the Cultures and Communities initiative was established in 2019 to amplify diverse cultural perspectives and lived experiences through film programming, event curation, and community outreach. Milwaukee Film's Cultures & Communities initiative supports the efforts of anchor cultural programs such as Black Lens, the Latinx-focused Cine Sin Fronteras, and the LGBTQ-centric GenreQueer.

Through Cultures & Communities, Milwaukee Film offers a variety of year-round programming options beyond MFF such as commemorative month film and event series, the Cultures & Communities Festival, and our film-based DE&I engagement program, Engage & Activate.

JOIN US LATER THIS MONTH FOR EVEN MORE GREAT FILMS AND EVENTS AS PART OF HISPANIC HERITAGE MONTH!

Celebrating the rich cinematic and cultural history within the Latinx diaspora, the Oriental Theatre will be host to incredible screenings such as the classic SELENA presented in stunning 35mm and the critically-acclaimed Sundance Institute Indigenous Short Film program! Learn more and get your tickets at MKEFILM.ORG/HHM.

BLACK LENS

Black Lens & Black History Month

In 2014, Milwaukee Film recognized the critical need to elevate Black voices in film, seeing the power of film to bridge racial and cultural divides. Through our Black Lens program, Milwaukee Film created a month-long series in 2019 dedicating our February programming to films and events that inspire conversation, celebration, and community around Black History Month.

Women's History Month

In 2021, Milwaukee Film celebrated its first collection of programming dedicated to amplifying women's voices during Women's History Month. Using film and mindful discussions to emphasize topics ranging from identity and leadership to body politics and the balance of work-life and motherhood, during the month of March we celebrate the women in our lives who have helped guide us to where we are today.

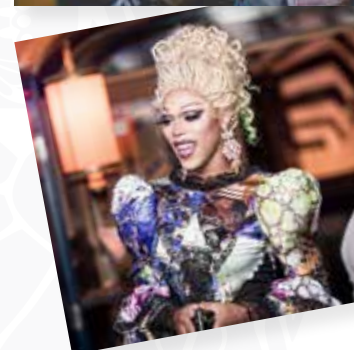

Genre Queer & Pride Month

Milwaukee Film's GenreQueer program hosts an annual Pride Month celebration—four weeks of screenings, conversations, and events that celebrate the past, present, and future of LGBTQIA+ cinema.

Engage & Activate

Through our Engage & Activate program (EA), we provide workplace diversity, equity, and inclusion (DE&I) and soft skills training. Expert facilitators research and select films, help develop discussion topics and moderate staff engagements that emphasize guided reflections and vicarious learning.

CULTURES & COMMUNITIES FESTIVAL

Rooted in the cinematic experience and guided by principles of cultural inclusivity, the Cultures & Communities Festival (CCF) is a five-day cultural event featuring groundbreaking films, distinguished speakers, and public forums focused on arts & culture, health & wellness, equity & inclusion, and centering the lived experience of people of color.

Established in 2019 as the Minority Health Film Festival, CCF uses the affective power of visual storytelling to spark dialogue around a wide range of issues, inspiring attendees to celebrate their cultural heritage and authentic selves.

Greetings,

Starting a festival rooted in concepts of community and wellness amidst a period in our society when both of those things were strained like never before has only served to strengthen our belief in CCF's mission. Art, health, and our city itself are all best enjoyed and experienced when surrounded by other human beings. Being able to gather again to both see stories and tell our stories is a gift that we don't take for granted. Whether you join us for a single screening or event, or we see you throughout this very special week, we welcome you and thank you for helping us do it for the culture and the community.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 15 | 4:30 PM
