Dear Teachers,

Welcome to the Milwaukee Film Education Screenings! We are delighted to have you and thankful that so many Milwaukee-area teachers are interested in incorporating film into the classroom! So that we may continue providing these opportunities, we do require that your class complete at least one activity in conjunction with the screening of Keepers of the Game. Your cooperation ensures that we are able to continue applying for funding to bring in these films and offer them to you (and literally thousands of students) at such a low cost.

This packet includes several suggestions of activities and discussion questions that fulfill a variety of Common Core Standards. Let me know if you need a different file format! Feel free to adapt and modify the activities for your own classroom. Students could also simply journal, blog, or write about their experience.

You can send evidence of the work you did to integrate the film into your classroom electronically or by mail. This could include: links to online content, Google Drive folders, scanned material, photocopied or original student work concerning the film/film-going experience or even your own anecdotal, narrative accounts. We should receive this evidence of your integration of the film into your classroom by December 31, 2016. All of what you send us will help us write and fulfill the grants that allow us to bring these films to you and your students at such a low cost. We may also post some of the best work on our website (with students’ first names and school only) later in the semester (if you would prefer we not share your students’ work publicly, please let me know).

There is an Essay Contest in this packet! Submit writing from your students in response to the standard prompt we offer here by November 21, 2016 for consideration. A panel of judges will select the best essay and a runner-up in each grade range to receive a bookstore gift certificate as a prize. See the Essay Contest handout in this packet for more details.

Send student work or evidence via email to cara@mkefilm.org or by mail to:

Teacher Background for What is a Documentary?

For this lesson students will be interrogating what makes a film a documentary film. These activities are designed to be completed before the festival screening, and first in the sequence, so as to expose students to conventions in documentary film. These activities are also designed to reinforce the Making Your Own Documentary activity that is included last in this packet.

This activity should take approximately two class periods to complete. Part One involves analyzing a short documentary and viewing a filmmaker interview about their work. The goal of this portion of the activity is for students to create a working definition of what a documentary is.

There are two (2) options for teachers to select for Part One of this activity. The documentary 34x25x36 involves the mannequin industry and how mannequin makers are improving upon the real body. Because this documentary does show naked mannequins, it may not be appropriate for younger or immature audiences. The content of the documentary would be of particular interest to adolescent audiences because of the discussion about body perfection in our society. The seven minute film can be found at: http://www.pbs.org/pov/34x25x36/video/34x25x36/. The four minute director interview can be found at: http://www.pbs.org/pov/34x25x36/video/jesse-epstein/.

The documentary Nutkin’s Last Stand is about the efforts in England to preserve the red squirrel population, which also involves eradicating the grey squirrel population. The filmmaker piece is particularly interesting because of the parallels drawn between the timid English red squirrel and the fat, aggressive American grey squirrel. Students may also be familiar with the Beatrix Potter work “The Tale of Squirrel Nutkin”. The 18 minute film can be found at: http://www.pbs.org/pov/nutkinslaststand/video/nutkins-last-stand/. The five minute filmmaker interview can be found at: http://www.pbs.org/pov/nutkinslaststand/video/nicholas-berger/.

For Part Two of this activity, students will be viewing a film trailer, analyzing documentary clips and reporting on their clip to the class, and viewing a filmmaker interview. This part of the lesson is designed to get the students thinking about what they would focus on if they were to make their own documentary film.

⚠️ TEACHERS! The full documentary My Way to Olympia may be available to stream on the PBS POV website, but was not available at the time these activities were developed due to upcoming televised broadcasts of the film.
The trailer, six film clips, and filmmaker interview can be found at:

Let's Go To The Movies!: Preview Keepers of the Game

English Language Arts Activity

Teacher Resources:
- Film Poster: http://goo.gl/TMBZaD
- Film Trailer: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=U8D8F5eHuI

TEACHERS! The following activities are intended for use before your class visits the 2016 Milwaukee Film Festival Education Screening of Keepers of the Game. By observing the film poster, previewing the film trailer, and engaging students in discussion regarding the film, students will build common background knowledge together. This will prepare them to engage confidently with film and to think critically while viewing the film itself.

Directions:
1. Explain to the students that they will soon be visiting the Oriental Theatre for an Education Screening at the 2016 Milwaukee Film Festival. They will be viewing a documentary film entitled Keepers of the Game that follows the story of the Salmon River High girls’ lacrosse team as they strive to become the first Native women’s team to bring home a Section championship.

2. Share the film’s promotional poster (use link provided above). Ask students to observe the poster and to share what they notice. Use prompting questions such as:
   - Who do you think these characters are?
   - What do you think the overall theme is of this story (is it a story of triumph, failure, individuality, teamwork, etc.)?
   - What other things do you notice on the poster (credits, film title, awards)?

3. After a discussion about the poster, have students predict what the film will be about. Students should take quiet time to write their predictions of the film. Continue to display the poster image during this activity so students can refer to characters or objects they notice.

4. Have some students volunteer to share their predictions, either by reading what they wrote, or summarizing their ideas for the class. (Note: These predictions can be revisited once students have seen the film. Analyze predictions for accuracy and further discussion.)

5. Explain that one way people learn of what a film is going to be about is through a film trailer. A trailer is essentially a film commercial that informs us of the basic storyline, introduces us to characters and setting, and intrigues us to want to see the film.
6. Share that Keepers of the Game is a story about a Native American tribe. What do you already know about Native American culture? What questions do you have about Native American culture?

7. Watch the film trailer (use link provided above) and discuss. Does the documentary style remind you of any other films or shows you've seen? What do you notice about this movie that is different from other movies you've seen? Are you able to answer any questions you had after studying the poster?

8. Now that students have seen the film poster and film trailer, discuss the following:
   - What do you now know about the film?
   - What are you wondering about (I wonder how..., I wonder why...)
What is a Documentary?

Part One: The activity is broken into multiple sections. You will be watching a short documentary and filmmaker interview. Be sure to complete the appropriate task before, during, and after the viewings as indicated. Be prepared to discuss your analysis with your classmates. Write answers on a separate sheet of paper if necessary.

Before viewing:
What do you already know about documentary films?

During film viewing:
Take notes on the documentary.

After film viewing:
1. What is/are the central message(s) of this documentary? Be specific. Use examples from the documentary to support your choice.

2. Discuss the bias in the documentary (point of view of the filmmakers).

3. Consider the effectiveness of the film in communicating its message. As a tool of communication, what are its strengths and weaknesses?

4. How do you think the filmmakers wanted the audience to respond? What evidence is there that the filmmaker was looking for this response?
5. Were there any attempts to persuade the audience? Explain

6. Does this film appeal to the viewer’s reason or emotion? Explain the role of each in this documentary.

7. How does it make you feel?

8. Were any factual claims made in the documentary? Explain.

9. Write a question to the filmmaker that is left unanswered by his/her documentary. Do you believe the question was left unanswered purposefully? Why or why not?

10. What is the most interesting aspect of this documentary?

During film viewing:
Take notes on the filmmaker interview.

After director interview viewing:
1. What things are important to the filmmaker?

2. Listening to the filmmaker, what did you learn about what a documentary is?

3. Develop a working definition of what a documentary is considering your viewings and discussion.
What is a Documentary?, continued

Part Two: After being assigned to a group and a clip, analyze the documentary portion. The activity is broken into multiple sections. You will be watching a film trailer as a class, a documentary clip with your group, and a filmmaker interview as a class. Be sure to complete the appropriate task during and after the viewings as indicated. Be prepared to discuss your analysis with your classmates. Use a separate sheet of paper if necessary.

During film trailer viewing:
What do you think the film is about based on the trailer?

During film clip viewing:
Take notes on the documentary clip. Be prepared to share a summary with the class.

After film clip viewing (respond to as many questions as you can):
1. What do you think is/are the central message(s) of this documentary based on the clip? Be specific. Use examples from the documentary to support your choice.

2. Consider the effectiveness of the clip in communicating its message. As a tool of communication, what are its strengths and weaknesses?

3. How do you think the filmmakers wanted the audience to respond? What evidence is there that the filmmaker was looking for this response?

4. Were there any attempts to persuade the audience? Explain.

5. Does this film clip appeal to the viewer’s reason or emotion? Explain the role of each in this documentary.

6. How does the documentary clip make you feel?
7. Write a question to the filmmaker that is left unanswered by his/her documentary from the clip you have viewed.

8. What is the most interesting aspect of this documentary clip?

During filmmaker interview viewing:
1. Why did the filmmaker make the film?

2. What is the documentary My Way to Olympia about?

3. What did the filmmaker think about the Paralympics before he made the film?

4. How does the filmmaker wish people were exposed to disabled people?

5. What does the filmmaker explain about the façade “perfect” people have to have?

After filmmaker interview viewing:
1. What things are important to the filmmaker?

2. Listening to the filmmaker, what did you learn about what a documentary is?

3. If you were to make your own documentary, what would you want it to be about?

4. What about your documentary topic would you want to highlight specifically?
Teacher Background for Lacrosse Basics

This activity introduces students to the basics of the game of lacrosse because the film, Keepers of the Game, centers around a girl’s lacrosse team. This activity is to be completed before the film viewing.

Part One of this activity is designed to be completed by pairs or small groups of students. The reading is designed to be jigsawed where pairs or groups will be responsible for reading and reporting on their assigned portion to their classmates. For Part Two of this activity, students will view a video tutorial on the game of lacrosse and they will be asked to discuss how lacrosse is both like and unlike other sports they are familiar with.

For Part One, direct students to the “Basic Lacrosse Skills” reading found at http://www.livestrong.com/article/93511-basic-lacrosse-skills/. Read the “overview” segment as a class. Then direct students to the reading “Rules and Facts for Lacrosse” found at http://www.livestrong.com/article/427124-rules-facts-for-lacrosse/ and read the introductory portion as a class. After reading the overview and introductory portions, assign pairs of students to read the remaining seven (7) segments of “Basic Lacrosse Skills” and the remaining four (4) segments of “Rules and Facts for Lacrosse” and record their findings in the space provided on the chart. When pairs are done summarizing their assigned information, students are to share their findings with their peers so students can complete the entire chart.

For Part Two, go to https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=W03VtWxOM_M to view a four minute video on the rules of field lacrosse. After viewing, students should complete the remaining portion of the worksheet where they will discuss and record how lacrosse is similar to sports they are familiar with and how lacrosse is unlike sports they are familiar with.

Teacher Background for Mohawk Tribe Research

This is a three-part activity. All parts can be completed either before or after the film viewing, but students will likely have a greater appreciation of the film if they complete the research before the film viewing. Because the film, Keepers of the Game, centers around a lacrosse team where most of the team is a part of the Mohawk Nation, it is helpful for students to have some background information on the Mohawk Tribe.

Though this activity can be completed by students independently, the activity is best suited for students to work with partners or in small groups.

In Part One, which can be done either before or after the film viewing, students are asked to locate general information about the Mohawk tribe. Specific, well organized, information about the tribe can be difficult to find through a basic internet search, but the site "Mohawk Tribe" found at http://www.warpaths2peacepipes.com/indian-tribes/mohawk-tribe.htm will answer all the questions on the chart provided. This activity can be done individually, with a partner, or in small groups.

In Part Two, which can be done either before or after the film viewing, students are asked to condense their research findings into a few facts they feel their peers and teacher should know. Students could choose to show general information about the Mohawk Tribe or they may choose to focus on a specific feature of the tribe. It is their task to condense the information to highlight something specific. This activity can be done individually, with a partner, or in small groups.

In Part Three, which can be done either before or after the film viewing, students are to develop their selected information into a visual display. This activity requires that students integrate the information they generated from Part One and Part Two, and determine the best way to convey this information to an audience. It is recommended that the students visit http://www.easel.ly/ to develop an infographic. A video about infographics can be found at https://youtu.be/ZEy5IDKgdFY and it is recommended that the video be viewed and discussed as a class. The infographic activity can be done individually, with a partner, or in small groups.

Teachers should determine how students should present their findings. Students can simply submit their infographic, display it in the room for classmates to review, or orally present their work.

NAME: ____________________________

Part Two: Select a few aspects of your research you feel your teacher and peers should know about the information you collected. Use a separate piece of paper if necessary.

Use the space provided to identify at least three facts or ideas you want to focus on AND respond to the questions that follow:

1. ______________________________________________________________________________________________________
   ______________________________________________________________________________________________________
   ______________________________________________________________________________________________________

2. ______________________________________________________________________________________________________
   ______________________________________________________________________________________________________
   ______________________________________________________________________________________________________

3. ______________________________________________________________________________________________________
   ______________________________________________________________________________________________________
   ______________________________________________________________________________________________________

What do you want your reader to understand about the Mohawk Tribe after they have reviewed your display?

Why is it important that they know that information?

Part Three: Develop the information you selected into a visual display.

It is recommended that you create an infographic to deliver your information. An infographic is a way of representing information with visual as well as textual cues. Visit http://www.easel.ly/ and create an account (so you can save and resume your work).

An informational video on creating infographics on Easel.ly can be found at https://youtu.be/ZEy5IDKgdFY to assist you in developing your work.

When making an infographic to illustrate your research, consider what format and design will best articulate your information to your reader. Be sure to select information that paints a distinct picture of the research you choose to focus on; you don’t want to display everything you did research on. Be prepared to present your information to the class.

Teacher Background for Myth Storyboard

This activity involves exposure to a Native American myth and the development of an online storyboard asking students to create a visual representation of the Native American myth about the game of lacrosse. This activity is designed to be completed before the film viewing so as to expose the students to Native American storytelling and the importance of animals in the culture.

Part One of this activity is designed to be completed by students as a whole class group or in small groups. Part Two of the activity is designed to be completed independently in the classroom or at home, but it can easily be adapted so students complete the work as a small group. Teachers can elect to have students present their work in a number of ways like a class gallery, student presentation, or simply submitting their product.

For this activity students will first read “The Story of Lacrosse” which can be found at http://iroquoisnationals.org/the-Iroquois/the-story-of-lacrosse/ for Part One and develop a brief summary of the reading.

For Part Two, students will go to https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=zsDryTkqdrY to review a short video (3:42) about how to develop a storyboard using https://www.storyboardthat.com. Students should create an account so they are able to save their work. The free account will allow users to develop two (2) storyboards a week.

☞ TEACHERS! This activity can be completed more traditionally where students bring in physical images and develop a “cut and paste” style storyboard.
Myth Storyboard

Part One: Read “The Story of Lacrosse” that can be found at http://iroquoisnationals.org/the-iroquois/the-story-of-lacrosse/. When you have completed the reading, complete the following information.

Origin stories are designed to explain how something came into being. What origin is explained in this story?

The theme of a story is the message about life that the author is trying to convey to the audience. What is the theme of the story?

Develop a summary of the major points in the story, making sure to incorporate both the origin components and the theme of the story in your response.

Part Two: Go to https://www.storyboardthat.com to develop a storyboard to represent your summary of “The Story of Lacrosse”. You will want to create an account so you can save your work. Be prepared to share your work with the class.
Teacher Background for S.O.S. A.C.T.

This activity addresses the topic of suicide because one of the high school girls that is profiled in the documentary Keepers of the Game discusses her own suicide attempts. This activity utilizes two (2) lessons adapted from the Suicide Prevention Curriculum provided by The Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction.

This activity will expose students to the A.C.T. model which stands for Acknowledge, Care, Tell, and present students with a number of S.O.S. (Signs of Suicide) scenarios to apply the A.C.T. technique.

This activity is designed to be completed by students independently in the classroom, but it can be completed orally as a whole class group. The activities will be the most beneficial if there is significant student interaction.

In Part One of the activity, students will first learn about the A.C.T. technique by watching a brief video that can be found at https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=VIA4UJDzqtQ. Approximate running time is 18 minutes. Students will be exposed to A.C.T. and see three (3) scenarios where they will see both correct and incorrect ways of addressing someone showing signs of suicide. While viewing, students will react to the scenarios and elaborate on how the student players used A.C.T. to address S.O.S.

In Part Two of this activity students will review different “Self Injury Stories” and explain how they would use A.C.T. to address the issue. It is recommended that Part Two be jigsawed and groups of students discuss how they would react to the scenario before sharing their use of the technique with the class.

Part Two: Review your assigned scenario as a group and indicate how you could use A.C.T. to address the issue using the space provided at the bottom of the page. When you are done, respond to the scenario that will appear in the film festival documentary, Keepers of the Game. Be prepared to share your ideas with the class.

Scenario 1: Sonja comes over to your house and you notice that she has bandages wrapped around her wrists. How would you use A.C.T. to find out what happened to Sonja and get her to professional help?

Scenario 2: Bill has been bragging to you about the burn marks he has made on his arms and legs saying that proves that he can handle a lot of pain. You do not believe his story. How would you use A.C.T. to get Bill to medical care for his burns and professional help for this action?

Scenario 3: Brad wants you to join a club that is on the internet called Cutters Club International. To be a part of this group you have to perform a significant injury to oneself (cutting, burning, puncturing) and send a picture to the central email address to get an official membership card. You think this is unbelievable that Brad wants to do this. How do you convince Brad to get help?

Scenario 4: Lucy has had many fights with her mother. Every time she has a fight she scratches a line on her arms or legs. You are really worried that she will do something that will severely hurt herself. How would you use A.C.T. to help her stop this behavior?

Scenario 5: Tom and Salima always tell others that they are blood friends. You notice numerous cuts with swelling on each of their arms. It looks like they are cutting and sharing blood. How can you use A.C.T. to get both of them help?

Scenario #___________: How would you use A.C.T. to address the situation posed in your scenario?

She doesn’t feel like she’s fitting in and is having trouble making friends. You are aware that she has attempted to hang herself and drink bleach to end her life. You are worried she will try to harm herself again. How can you use A.C.T. to get Tsieboo seek get help?
Teacher Background for Quote Analysis

This is a two-part activity. Part One is to be completed before the film viewing; Part Two can only be completed after the film viewing.

These questions are designed to get students thinking and talking about the content of the film, and talking about some of the direct quotes from the film. Students should be encouraged to discuss these ideas both before and after viewing the film.

Though this activity can be completed by students independently, the activity is best suited for whole-small-whole instruction, small groups, or partners. The activity could be broken up so students are not responsible for responding to all the questions, just ones they select or are assigned, or this activity can also be completed through general oral discussion alone as opposed to having students record their responses.

In Part One, which is to be done before the film viewing, students are asked to analyze quotes that are stated by characters in the film. Students are asked to both provide an objective summary of the quote and connect the content to their own lives. You many elect to come up with the meaning for the quotes as a class and have the students complete the personal questions based on their own life experiences.

In Part Two, which can only be done after the film viewing, students are asked to review the quotes and indicate how the quotes relate to the film. Students may discuss who said the quote or discuss the importance of the quote in the context of the film. Students are also asked to determine if the quote represents something that characters in the film either proved to be right or wrong.

Teacher Background for Writing a Movie Review

Additional Support provided by the Greater Milwaukee Foundation - Grace G. Horn Fund, Gene & Ruth Posner Foundation, Woman’s Club of Greater Wisconsin Foundation, and Anonymous.
This activity involves composition of a movie review for Keepers of the Game. This activity is designed to be completed after the film viewing so students are provided with the platform to discuss their opinions and analysis of the film. Part One could be completed either before or after the film viewing; Parts Two and Three can only be completed after the film viewing.

Part One of this activity is designed to be completed by students as a whole class group or in small groups. Parts Two and Three of the activity are designed to be completed independently in the classroom or at home, but can easily be adapted so students complete the work as a small group. Teachers can elect to have students present their work in a student presentation or by simply submitting their product.

For Part One of this activity, which can be completed both before or after the film, students will first articulate their own familiarity with movie reviews orally and in writing. Students will then read a few movie reviews that can be found at http://www.scholastic.com/teachers/lesson-plan/collateral_resources/pdf/r/review_writing/movies/sample_movie_reviews.pdf and provide their analysis of how the reviews are organized and what components are present in the review. The reviews could be broken up so not all students are responsible for reading all three reviews. Students could also go to https://www.rottentomatoes.com and locate their own reviews to analyze. Students should notice that the reviews provide the setting of the film, the characters and how they develop in the film, the plot of the film, and the reviewer's opinion of the film.

For Part Two, which can only be completed after the film viewing, students will record information from Keepers of the Game by answering the questions provided to begin development of their own movie review.

For Part Three, students will develop their own movie review. A simple organizational structure for the student film reviews would be a brief summary of the film, an analysis of a specific moment or character in the film, and their opinion of the film.

TEACHERS! This activity is adapted from a lesson plan developed by Scholastic. The full lesson plan can be found at: http://www.scholastic.com/teachers/lesson-plan/writing-movie-reviews-lights-camera-publish
Movie Review

NAME: ______________________________

Part One: Review the sample movie reviews and record your observations about the reviews in the space provided, or use a separate piece of paper.

What is your own familiarity with movie reviews?

What do you notice about the type of information included in the movie review?

What do you notice about how the movie reviews are organized?

What do you notice about the personal opinions provided by the reviewer?

What do you think is the most important thing in a movie review? Why?

Part Two: Complete the information for Keepers of the Game to begin organizing your thoughts for your own movie review.

What is the setting of the film?

Who are some of the characters in the film? Do those characters change or stay the same? Explain.

What is the plot of the film?

Provide a brief summary of the film?

What is your opinion of the film?

Who would you recommend this film to? Why?
Part Three: Organize your responses from Part Two into a movie review of Keepers of the Game. A simple organizational structure would be a one-paragraph summary of the film including the setting, the characters, and the basic plot, a one-paragraph analysis of a specific aspect of the film like the plot or a character, and a one-paragraph opinion of the film and who you would recommend see the film.
Teacher Background for Documentary Analysis/Making your own Documentary

This is a two-part activity. Both parts are designed to be done after the film viewing, but Part One could be done before viewing the film.

The questions provided are designed to get students thinking and talking about the content of the film and what they could include in their own documentary if they were a filmmaker.

Both parts of this activity can be completed by students independently, but students could also work with a partner or in a small group. Part One could also be done as a whole class by jig-sawing the work so students are not responsible for responding to all the questions, just ones they select or are assigned, or this Part One can also be completed through general oral discussion alone as opposed to having students record their responses.

In Part One, students are asked to respond to a series of questions about the documentary to interrogate the choices the filmmaker made when selecting the subject material and crafting the mood of the film.

In Part Two, students are asked to develop their ideas for their own documentary.

EXTENSION ACTIVITY: Develop your treatment into an actual film and submit it to the Milwaukee Film Festival this spring for next year's festival. More information can be found at: mkefilm.org
